

Important Information About Your Color StyleWriter 4500

If you intend to use a serial cable to connect the Color StyleWriter 4500 to a Power Macintosh G3 computer, you may wish to visit Apple's web site and download the latest driver for your Color StyleWriter 4500. The new driver fixes communication problems in which documents fail to print with messages such as "The printer is not responding" or "Sorry, a system error occurred (-23)."

The update also improves printing behavior in some low memory situations.

If you are connecting your Color StyleWriter 4500 via a LocalTalk network, you do not need to install the update.

The update is available from Apple's software updates site located at:

<http://www.apple.com/support/>

In the pop-up window under the heading Support Resources, choose Software Updates. Proceed to the folders Macintosh/Printing/StyleWriter/ and look for the files beginning with: CSW 4000 Series 1.1

Please follow the directions in the Read Me file for information on installing the update.

If you experience any difficulties installing or using this software update, please contact Apple technical support at 800-500-7078.
