ABOUT VELOCITY

At Velocity, it's our goal to create only the very best of computer games. But it isn't easy. We've learned that the recipe for a great computer game isn't simply a matter of programming. A lot of it has to do with intangible qualities- things like understanding the intrinsic nature of fun, constantly pushing the envelope of your creativity, maintaining a design integrity from the product to the packaging, and most of all, learning how to stay young at heart. We hope our approach works, and that we've delivered some solid entertainment value to you! Have fun with Spectre™!

By the way, if you believe you have the vision, clarity and tenacity to write a best-selling computer game or educational software program, ask for our free product submission package. We're always looking for fun and smart people to work with. Write to us at Velocity Development, Box 875, Palatine, IL 60078-0875.

ABOUT PENINSULA GAMEWORKS

Steve Newman, Sam Schillace and Craig Fryar started Peninsula Gameworks™ during the Fall of 1990, after they had no luck in trying to find a really cool network game to play on their Macs. They couldn't find one, so they created their own. Nine months later, after many hours of labor and sweat, Spectre was born.

Steve and Sam have been on the development teams of successful Mac word processing and graphics software, and this is their first foray into the gaming world. Craig was the "software mid-wife", holding the marketing dweebs at bay until the software was ready to demo. His goal was to coordinate the development of a game that would cut the nation's productivity by 30%. Hey, what a guy!

Velocity congratulates Peninsula Gameworks on the delivery of a wonderful, healthy, 683K computer game.

PLEASE? PLEASE? PLEASE?

We only ask one favor of you as our customer. PLEASE don't make illegal copies for your friends! Have you ever wondered why there aren't more great games for Mac? Because the piracy problem is so widespread on the Mac that software developers shy away from this platform.

We are taking a chance. As a sign of our trust and faith in you, and our willingness to make this product as convenient as possible for you to use, we removed ALL copy protection from it. We know, we've heard you. Copy protection is burdensome, troublesome and then some. So we decided to do you a favor. We're putting our money where our mouth is. We're taking a major risk, and trying to be your friend. Please show us that we put our faith in the right place. And all we're asking you to do is this one little favor in return. Promise us, right now, right where you're standing or sitting, promise us that you won't pirate this software. That's all we ask!

So if someone asks you to make an illegal copy for them, PLEASE PLEASE PLEASE tell them that you promised that you wouldn't do it. In return, we promise we'll keep making great games for the Mac.

Piracy?

Do the right thing.

Just say no.
